Dear Sir/Madam,

My name is Danijel Mursec from Mursec d.o.o., a company specializing in fire safety and fire engineering in Slovenia. We are conducting a study on the positive effects of fire extinguishers in personal vehicles. I am reaching out to you in the hope that you can assist me with some information regarding the legislation on mandatory fire extinguishers in personal vehicles in your country, as well as some other related data.

Could you please provide me with the following information:

1. Since when has it been legally mandatory to have a fire extinguisher in personal vehicles in your country?
2. How many personal vehicles are there in your country?
3. How many car fires have occurred in personal vehicles from 2013 to 2023?
4. How many people have died or been injured in these car fires?
5. According to your data, how much has mortality and injury rates in car fires decreased since fire extinguishers became mandatory?
6. How much has material damage decreased since fire extinguishers became mandatory?
7. Are there any statistical data on the use of fire extinguishers in personal vehicles between 2013 and 2023? How many times have they been used to extinguish fires?
8. Do you have data on how many vehicle owners regularly inspect and maintain their fire extinguishers?
9. Have any awareness or training programs been implemented for drivers regarding the use of fire extinguishers in personal vehicles?
10. What were the costs of implementing the law on mandatory fire extinguishers (e.g., costs for the government, individuals)?
11. Are there any comparative data from other countries that have implemented similar legislation, and what are the results in those countries?
12. What were the initial public responses to the introduction of the mandatory fire extinguisher law? Has public opinion changed over time?
13. Does the legislation specify specific types of fire extinguishers that vehicle owners must have, and if so, why were those types chosen?
14. Have there been any problems or challenges in implementing this legislation?

15. What are the penalties if drivers do not have a fire extinguisher in their personal vehicles?

I look forward to your response.

Best regards,

Danijel Mursec
