Dear Chief Justice,

We are pleased to invite you to the Sejong International Conference on the Rule of Law and Access to Justice, co-hosted by the Supreme Court of Korea and the OECD, to be held on 22-23 September 2025 in Seoul, Korea.

This conference, dedicated to honouring the legacy of King Sejong the Great, reflects our shared commitment to advancing global dialogue on justice and the rule of law. We look forward to in-depth discussions on key topics, including people-centred justice through the strengthening of the rule of law, enhancing access to justice through court technology, the role of artificial intelligence and digital transformation in courts, and the evolving landscape of intellectual property. This event will provide an opportunity to share perspectives and foster a deeper understanding of the opportunities, challenges, and innovations shaping justice systems worldwide.

The conference will bring together Chief Justices, Presidents of Judicial Councils, judges, and legal practitioners from OECD Member countries, alongside distinguished institutions from Asia and the Pacific, Africa, Europe, North and South America, and other international partners who would benefit from hearing your insights and experiences.

We hope you will be able to join this important event in Seoul. The team would be pleased to discuss your role to ensure your contribution. Please contact 2025sjconf@gmail.com and gov.accesstojustice@oecd.org to confirm your participation.

Mathias Cormann
OECD Secretary-General

Kind regards,

Chun Daeyup
