Every year, WIPO's Global Innovation Index ranks the global top-100 Science and Technology (S&T) Clusters. This ranking pinpoints the metropolitan areas that show the most vibrant scientific and inventive activity around the world. This year, for the first time, WIPO is organizing an event dedicated at unveiling the 2024 S&T cluster ranking. The programme will include high-level statements from top performing clusters and an expert panel discussion on what makes innovation thrive in cities.

Please join us for the release of the 2024 ranking, which is organized by WIPO in conjunction with IP Week @ SG 2024 hosted by the Intellectual Property Office of Singapore.
