Jevgeni Supin, producer

15.08.1976

Jevgeni Supin embarked on his journey in the entertainment industry in 1998, armed with a BA in Audiovisual Media. For over a decade, he lent his expertise to one of Estonia's oldest production houses, where he orchestrated the creation of thousands of hours of globally acclaimed formats such as Dancing With The Stars and Who Wants To Be A Millionaire, alongside an array of scripted shows. Establishing himself as an independent producer in 2013, Jevgeni's work has spanned a wide spectrum, from broadcast content to feature films and stage plays. Noteworthy projects include, "Who Shot Otto Müller?"—the first Viaplay-commissioned original series in the Baltic region, and the drama thriller "12 Summers Later", an adaptation of the UK-Finland series Man in Room 301. In recent years, Jevgeni has ventured onto the international arena and is currently spearheading the development of a slate of projects in co-production with Germany, Ukraine, Bulgaria, and Finland. One of his most ambitious undertakings is Detective von Fock, a historical crime series scheduled for production in 2024, poised to become one of Estonia's most expensive drama series. Beyond his production endeavours, Jevgeni also helms the TV Beats Forum, a conference and co-financing market hosted by the Tallinn Black Nights Film Festival.
