Dear President Kove,

I write to thank you and your colleagues in the Riigikohus, and indeed the many Estonian judges I met, for your kindness and hospitality to me during my recent visit. I was deeply honoured to have been invited to address the General Assembly of the Estonian Judiciary, and I am very grateful for the warm reception I received.

I also appreciate the time you and your colleagues devoted to my visit to the Riigikohus, and the work that clearly went into the presentations and tours arranged for me.

It was a wonderful opportunity to learn first-hand how your courts operate and to see the beautiful courthouses in which they work. I also very much enjoyed the gathering which brought the week's proceedings to a close.

I look forward to future exchanges between our two countries and our judiciaries, and to meeting you and your colleagues again. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you are next in Ireland.

I wish you every success in your ongoing efforts to reform the court system in Estonia, and I would be very happy to assist in any way I can.

Yours sincerely,

Paul Kelly
President of the District Court
