The European Economic Congress is a three-day long cycle of debates, meetings and accompanying events attended by participants from Poland, Europe and all over the world, including EU Commissioners, prime ministers and representatives of European governments, presidents of top companies, scientists, practitioners, and decision-makers influencing society and economy. In an open public debate, leaders of opinion discuss subjects of paramount importance from the perspective of the development of Europe.

So far, each edition of the European Economic Congress has maintained high turnout, generated significant media equivalent, and received a lot of publicity, not to mention the high profile of its guests.

EEC – an event full of business opportunities

100% of panellists and 87% of participants surveyed after the 2025 edition of the EEC report they had business meetings at the event*. The surveyed claim that the meetings resulted in new contracts, partnerships as well as long-term and effective business relationships.

Reported by its participants, the opportunities the event offers for networking, establishing and nurturing business relationships, as well as starting enterprises, are in line with the mission of the European Economic Congress. Its success as a business platform lies in special sectors for participants, evening banquets enabling unofficial conversations, prestigious galas and concerts.

International event

Since its very first edition, the stages of the European Economic Congress have been taken by politicians from all over the world, presidents, ministers and leaders of European countries, European commissioners and representatives of international organisations.

With every passing year, the number of foreign guests, including politicians, visiting Katowice during the European Economic Congress, is steadily growing.
