10th July 2024

Your Excellency,

I write today to invite you to be a keynote speaker at the 30th edition of the Central and Eastern European Forum, which will take place in Vienna on 14-15 January 2025.

This January we will be celebrating 30 years of the Forum and I hope you will be able to join us to discuss how the CEE countries can maintain their growth strategies for the year ahead. After a year marked by European Elections and numerous parliamentary elections – the Forum will be a critical point to take stock and look ahead to navigating a new political landscape.

The Forum attracts over a thousand major players from across CEE's financial markets and we will once again bring together governments, issuers, investors, and intermediaries to debate and analyse the economic future of the region.

We would be delighted to discuss the nature of your participation in more detail and welcome the chance to answer any questions you or your office may have about the event.

I very much hope you will be able to join us in January.

Yours sincerely,
