A) General

The announcement of the 25th International Youth Fire Brigade Meeting (IJFB) is made after a decision by the International Youth Leaders Commission and after approval by the Executive Council of CTIF.

The 25th IJFB will take place from Monday, July 13 to Saturday, July 18, 2025 in Šumperk (Czech Republic), under the leadership of CTIF's International Youth Leaders Commission (IJLK).

The local organisation is entrusted to the National Association of Volunteer Fire Brigades of Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia by commissioning the Czech National Committee CTIF.

The organisation for CTIF will be led by the Chair of the International Youth Leaders Commission, Jörn-Hendrik KUINKE.

The International Competition Director for the IJFB, Michael Wagner, Austria, has been commissioned by CTIF to direct the competition.

Information on the technical implementation of the International Youth Fire Brigade Competitions can be found in the International Competition Regulations for Youth Fire Brigades in the current version as well as the regulations on the occasion of the 2025 evaluator training.

In the event of differences in the interpretation of the competition provision, only the GERMAN VERSION shall be valid.

The invitation is extended to all National Fire Brigade Associations of CTIF and it is hoped that as many associations as possible will send youth groups to the meeting.

C) Information about the competition, registration and costs

1. General Provisions

- 1.1. At the 25th IJFB, the International Competition Regulations of the Youth Fire Brigades apply in the current version. According to the age limits set out in these rules , those born between 2010 and 2016, and younger age groups can also participate in this competition by decision of the IJLK, however, these are calculated at an age of 10 years.
- 1.2. The competition consists of the fire brigade obstacle exercise and the 400 m relay race .
- 1.3. The team strength of a group consists of 10 young people (including 1 reserve member) and 2 youth workers.

Mixed competition groups (boys and girls) are allowed to participate, but are not listed as a separate classification class.

With the decision of the IJLK and in coordination with the fire brigade, it is possible to send an additional group for each nation – exclusively girls – so that a maximum of 3 groups per nation can participate. These 3 groups must include either 2 boys' or mixed groups and 1 girls' group, or 2 girls' groups and 1 boys' or mixed group, but not 3 boys' groups, 3 girls' groups or 3 mixed groups.

This is intended to give the girls' groups appropriate opportunities, so that the national deployment of girls' groups is not at the expense of the boys' or mixed groups. This additional sending of a group is only possible if the organising fire brigade has accommodation facilities.

The following participants per national fire brigade association are admitted to the international youth fire brigade meeting:

- three youth groups (see above for the breakdown)
- a youth delegation leader
- a youth coach
- a masseur youth
- a young translator

A maximum of 40 people per nation can be accommodated in the youth camp

The nation that provides the last winner of the Vetter Cup may compete in the competition with an additional competition group - as the defending champion - of this nation (according to point 1.3. max. 12 people, 10 youth + 2 coaches).

The nation that provides the last winners of the Lappeenranta Cup may compete in the competition with an additional girls' team - as the defending champion - of this nation (according to point 1.3. max. 12 people, 10 youth + 2 coaches).

According to the decision of the Executive Council of 25 and 26 March 1994, the host country (Czech Republic) will be given the opportunity to send four competition groups (including at least one girls' group) to the competition.

2. Devices and equipment

- 2.1. The competition groups are selected by the National Organising Committee and the intern. Competition management, the competition device specified in accordance with the competition regulations, provided for the competition.
- 2.2. The competition equipment can be viewed on the homepage: www.ctif.cz .
