

To whom it may concern,

My name is Ihor Slovik Kujtsyak, and I am a Technical Engineer at the Laboratorio Técnico de Reformas (LTR), located in Spain. Our organization is a Technical Service for vehicle modifications, accredited by the Spanish National Accreditation Body (ENAC) under UNE-EN ISO/IEC 17020:2012 and UNE-EN ISO/IEC 17025:2017 standards.

Thanks to our accreditation under UNE-EN ISO/IEC 17025:2017, we are qualified to conduct technical tests for various UN Regulations, such as UN 58, 73, 55, 13, 13H, 48, 78, 79, 100, among others. Attached to this email, you will find our accreditation document, which includes the complete list of regulations covered by our laboratory.

We would like to learn about the requirements, procedures, fees, and process to follow so that our accredited tests can be used to issue type approvals with the E29 approval number in Estonia. Specifically, we are interested in detailed information on:

1. The official entity in Estonia responsible for issuing such approvals and the procedure for submitting the necessary documentation.
2. Any additional national requirements (beyond UN Regulations) that may apply.
3. The steps or stages of the certification (type approval) process and the approximate timeframe.
4. The established fees or costs for processing the type approval.
5. Whether there are any additional inspections or tests required by Estonian legislation.

We wish to ensure full compliance with Estonian regulations and standards. Therefore, we would greatly appreciate any additional information or clarification that can help us properly arrange our type approvals and ensure their validity in the country.

We look forward to your prompt response and remain available for any further queries or assistance you may need.

We hope this collaboration will be of interest and benefit to you.

Sincerely,

Ihor Slovik Kujtsyak
