

ENROUTE TO THE XV Trans-Regional Seapower SYMPOSIUM #1

"FROM REGIONAL WATERS TO GLOBAL INFLUENCE GENERATING EFFECTS ACROSS THE MIDLAND SEAS OF THE WORLD"

THE VENETIAN ARSENAL AND THE SYMPOSIUM

Some places do not simply preserve history. They continue to inspire the future. Venice is one of them.

For centuries, Venice stood at the crossroads of East and West, connecting peoples, markets and cultures across the seas. Its prosperity and influence were built on maritime vision, commercial ambition and an extraordinary ability to transform geographical opportunity into political and strategic power.

Few figures embody this outward-looking spirit better than Marco Polo. His journeys beyond the familiar horizons of Europe came to symbolise curiosity, courage and the pursuit of knowledge. His legacy reminds us that the sea has never been merely a boundary: it is a pathway to discovery, dialogue and mutual understanding.

At the heart of this extraordinary city, the Venetian Arsenal stands as one of the most powerful expressions of Venice's maritime history. For centuries, it combined technological innovation, industrial organisation and strategic foresight, transforming naval capability into influence, security and political strength. Here, the sea was not simply regarded as a space to navigate, but as the foundation of a far-reaching political project.

VENICE AS PART OF THE MESSAGE

Today, as the seas once again play a decisive role in shaping global balances, maritime security requires vision, cooperation and shared responsibility.

The Symposium will bring together Chiefs of Navy, senior military and institutional leaders, representatives from industry and academia, and international partners to discuss the future of seapower, crisis prevention, freedom of navigation and international stability.

Taking part in the XV Trans-Regional Seapower Symposium means joining a high-level international dialogue in one of the world's most iconic maritime cities. Alongside distinguished speakers and authoritative contributions, Venice will offer a unique and unforgettable experience, creating the ideal setting in which to strengthen cooperation and build meaningful relationships with Chiefs of Navy and maritime leaders from around the world.
