Subject: Invitation to participate in the International Conference

Dear Commodore

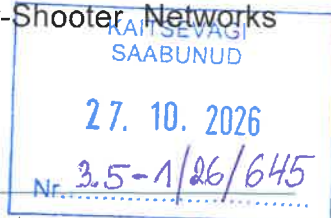

On behalf of the War Studies University, I have the honour to invite representatives of your University to participate in the 2nd edition of the international conference entitled “Lessons Learned from Contemporary Warfare – Implications for NATO’s Deterrence and Defence on the Eastern Flank”, organized by the Military Faculty, to be held on 08–09 December 2026 in Warsaw, Poland.

This year’s conference aims to advance the understanding of emerging threats and the mechanisms for their prevention in the context of rapidly evolving security challenges. Particular attention will be devoted to lessons identified from ongoing and recent conflicts, as well as their implications for deterrence and defence concepts, and the development of future operational capabilities.

The conference provides a high-level forum for senior military leaders, defence subject-matter experts, and members of the academic research community. It will facilitate the exchange of experience and strategic perspectives on effective deterrence and defence against a wide spectrum of threats.

Furthermore, your University is invited to contribute to the panels entitled:

1. Military Deterrence: Combat Power, Integrated Defence, and Operational Readiness.
2. Land Tactical Operations: Lessons Learned from Recent Conflicts.
3. Implications of Battlefield Superiority: Sensor-Decider-Shooter Networks and Multi-Domain Advantage.

The nomination of a speaker by your Institution to address this topic from the perspective of your nation would be deeply appreciated. Furthermore, active participation by your representatives across all conference panels and discussions is warmly welcomed and encouraged.

The conference will be conducted in English, at an unclassified level, and will not require the use or disclosure of any classified information.

Confirmation of participation, including the indication of proposed speakers or panellists, by 08 November 2026 would be appreciated.

For contact in this matter has been authorized:

I sincerely hope that representatives of your University will be able to join us in this important forum and contribute to the ongoing development of the theory and concepts of deterrence and defence. I look forward to the continued enhancement of our inter-university cooperation in service of strengthening international security.
