

PADELSPORT GLOBAL

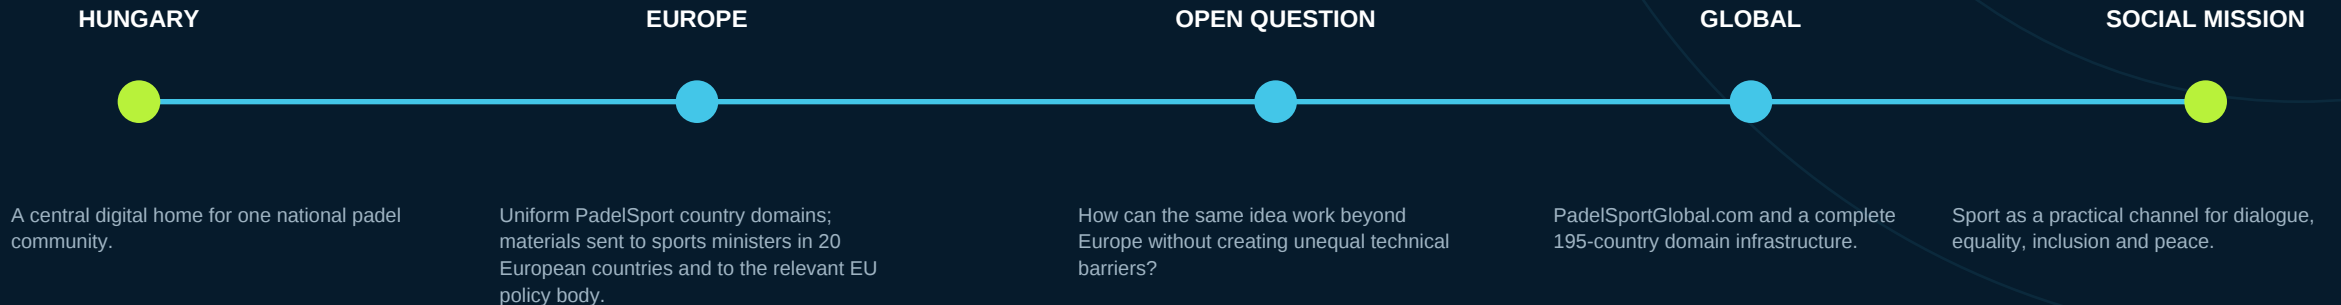

GLOBAL NETWORK & SOCIAL IMPACT ARCHITECTURE

A shared digital framework for sport, dialogue,
equal participation and global cooperation.

193 UN Member States + 2 UN Observer States

From one national idea to a global framework

The network expanded step by step - the social purpose became clearer as the scale grew.

THE TURNING POINT

The project stopped being only about building websites. It became a question of how one simple sports infrastructure could give every country an equal digital gateway and enable fast, two-way communication across borders.

195 equal country gateways

The infrastructure covers the 193 UN Member States and the two UN Observer States.

195

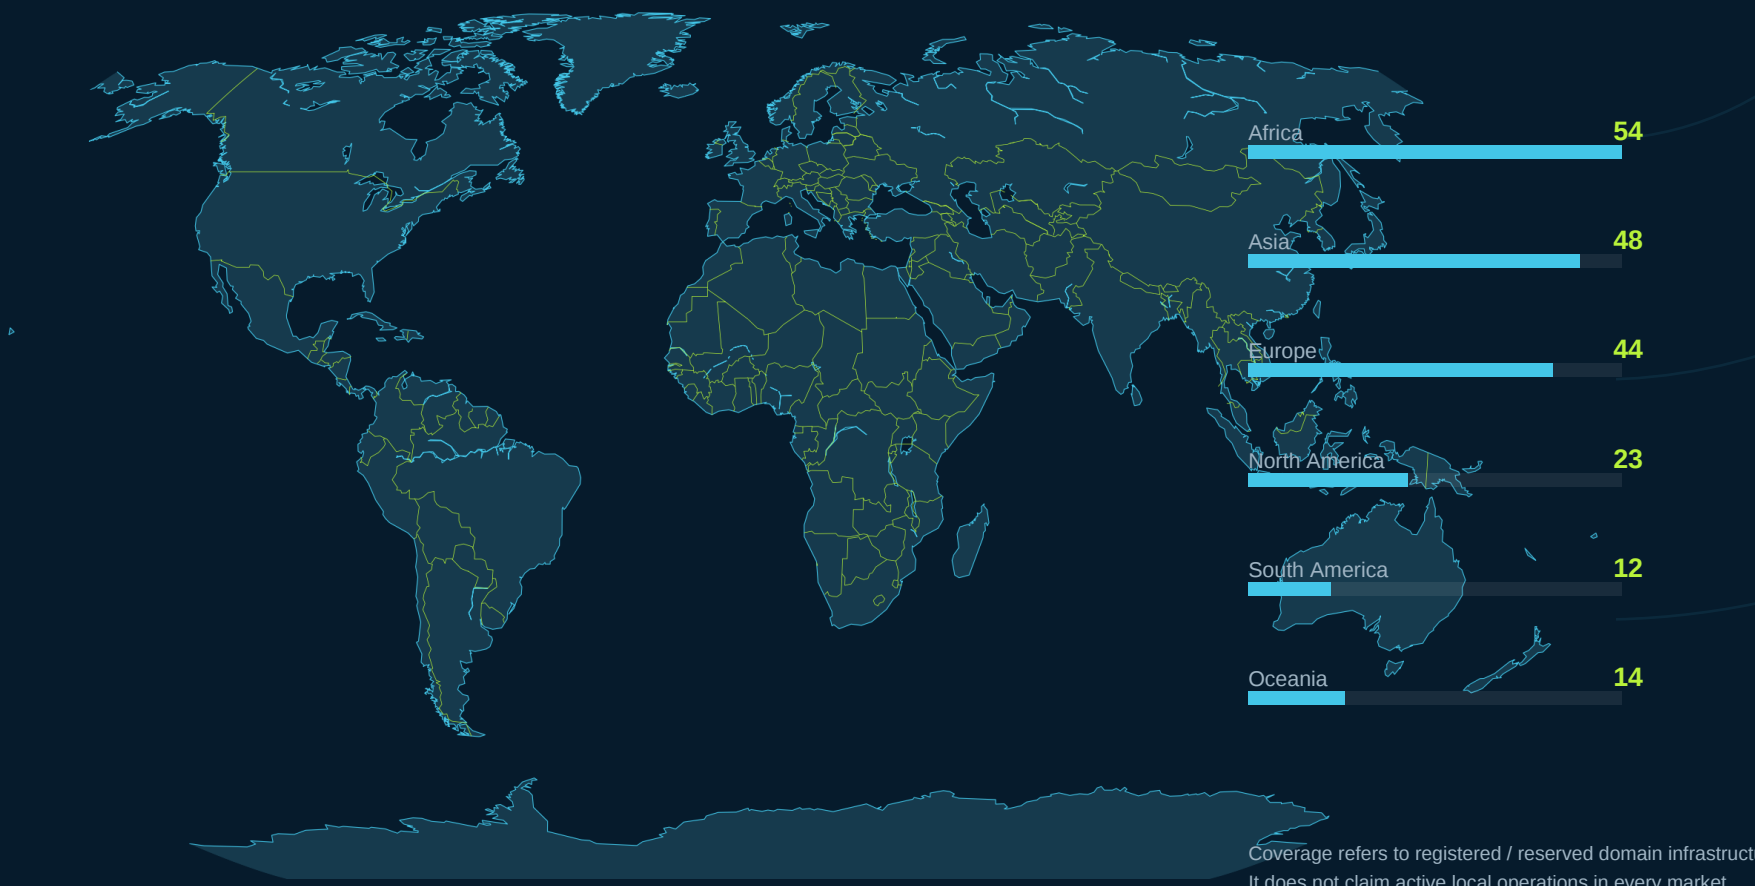

country gateways

geographic regions

shared technology core

Coverage refers to registered / reserved domain infrastructure. It does not claim active local operations in every market.

One naming logic, many local identities

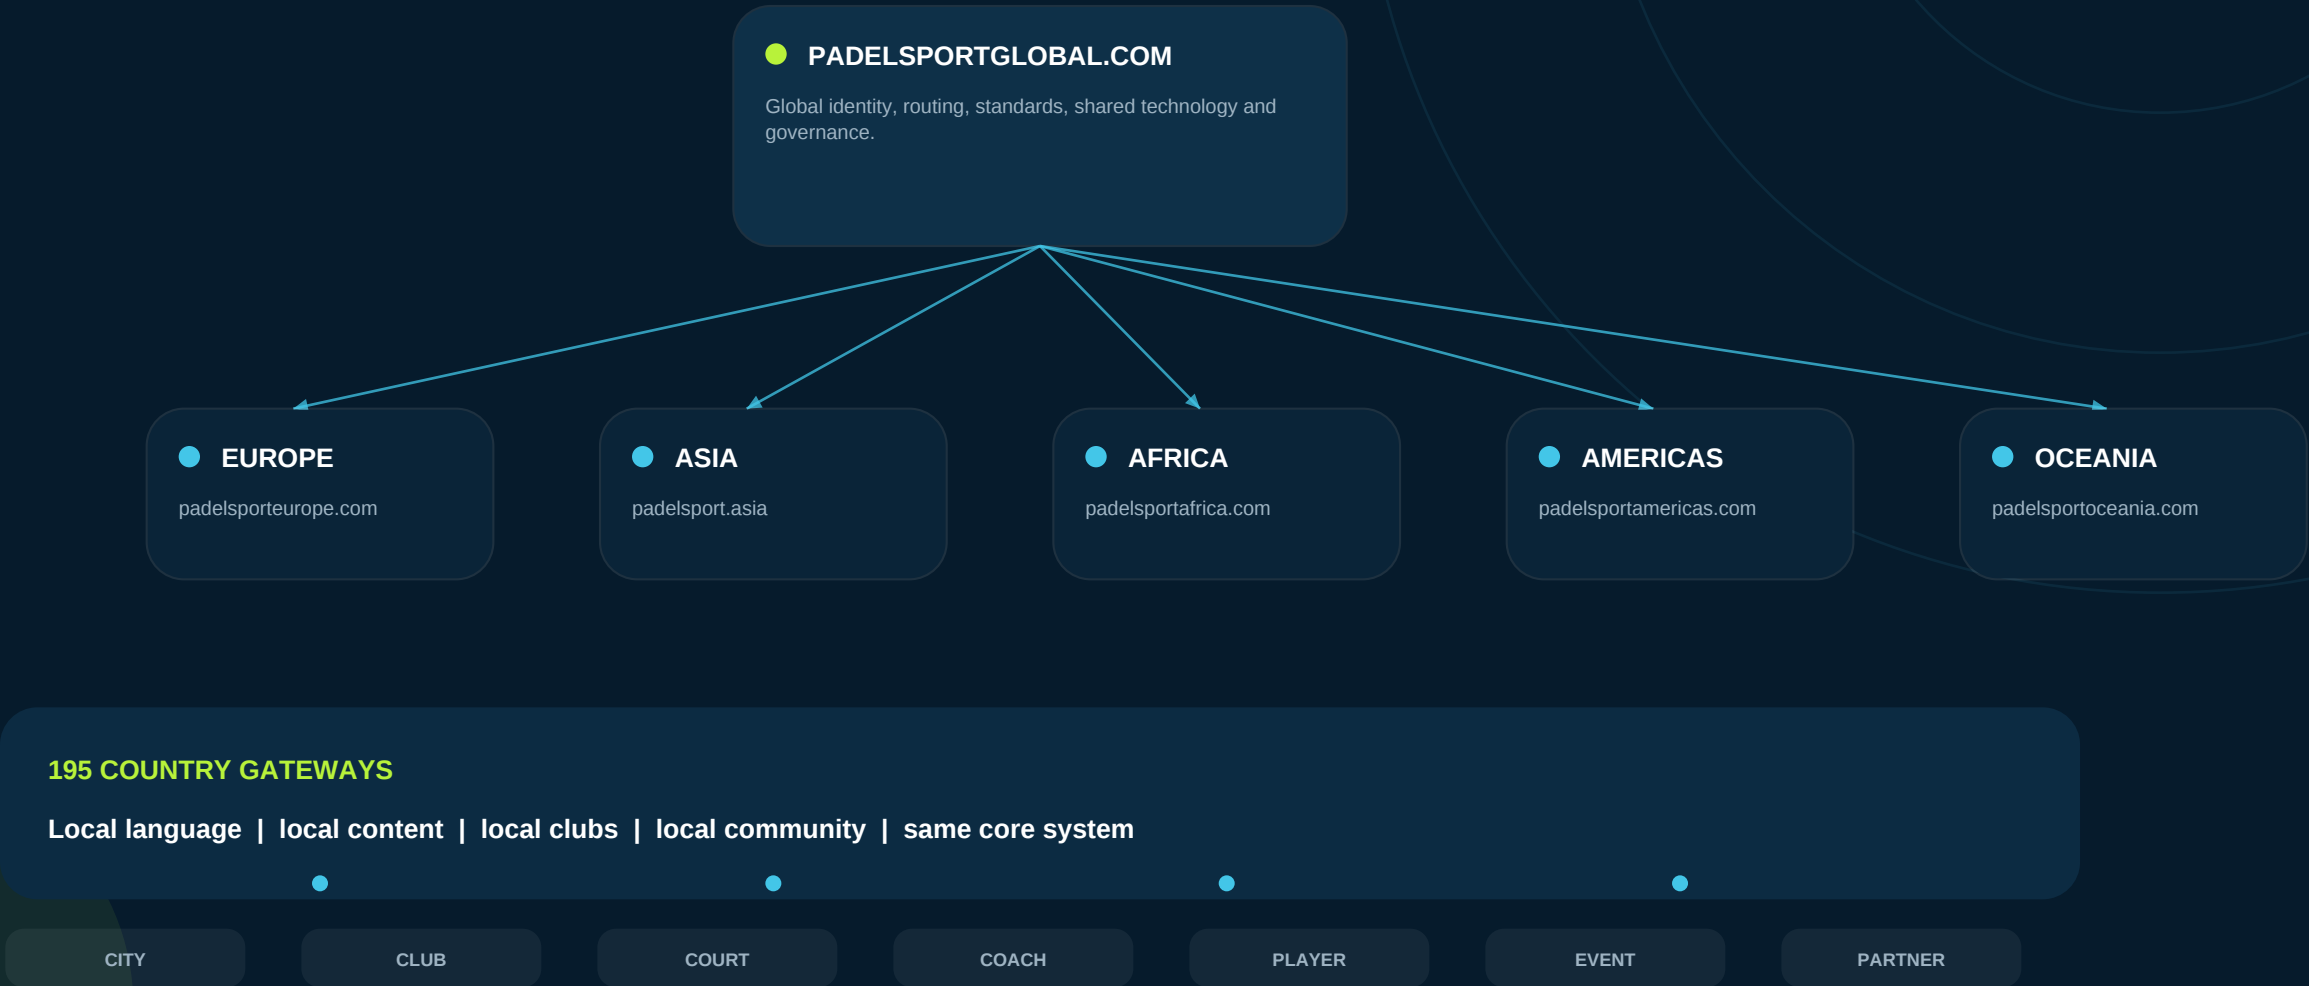

Simple, memorable and designed to remain understandable across languages.

The naming system is a symbol of equality: the same logic for large and small markets alike. Country-code domains may be used where they are stronger or locally appropriate, while the wider architecture remains consistent.

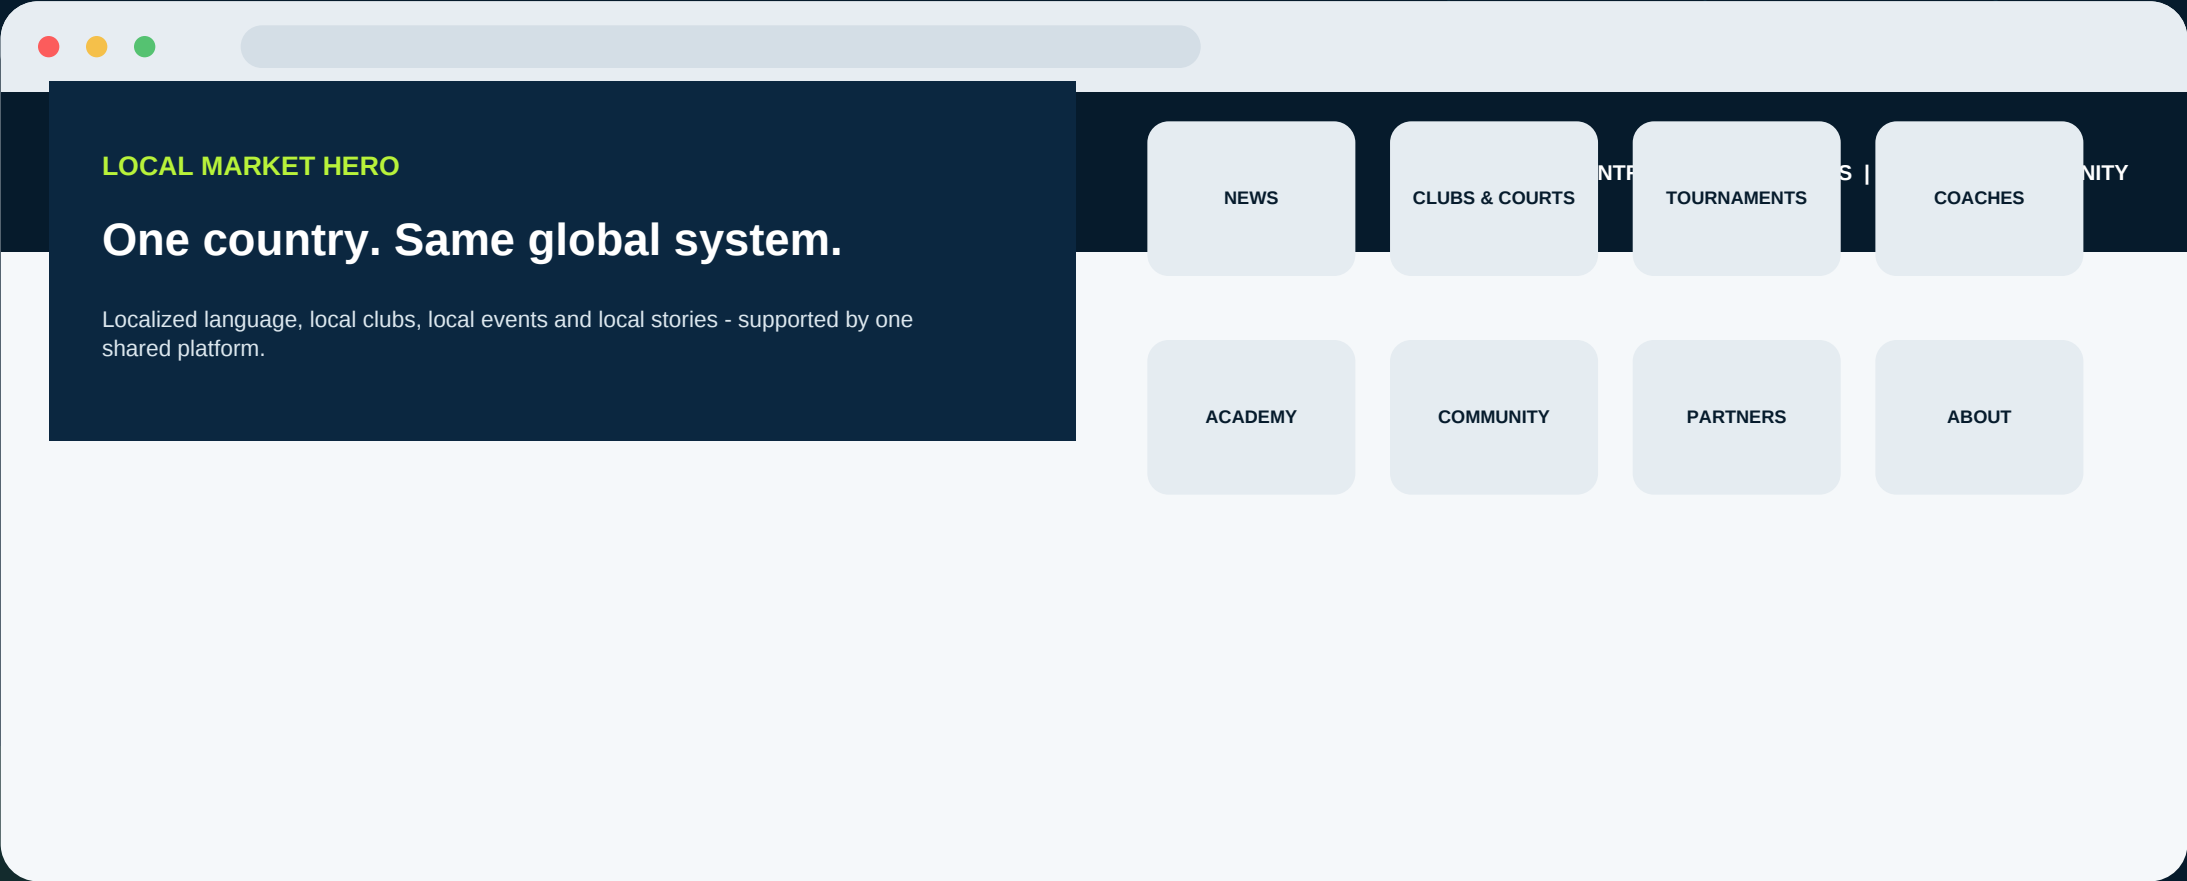

One core - five umbrellas - 195 local gateways

The scale comes from reuse: shared technology, shared standards, localized content.

Same structure, localized for each country

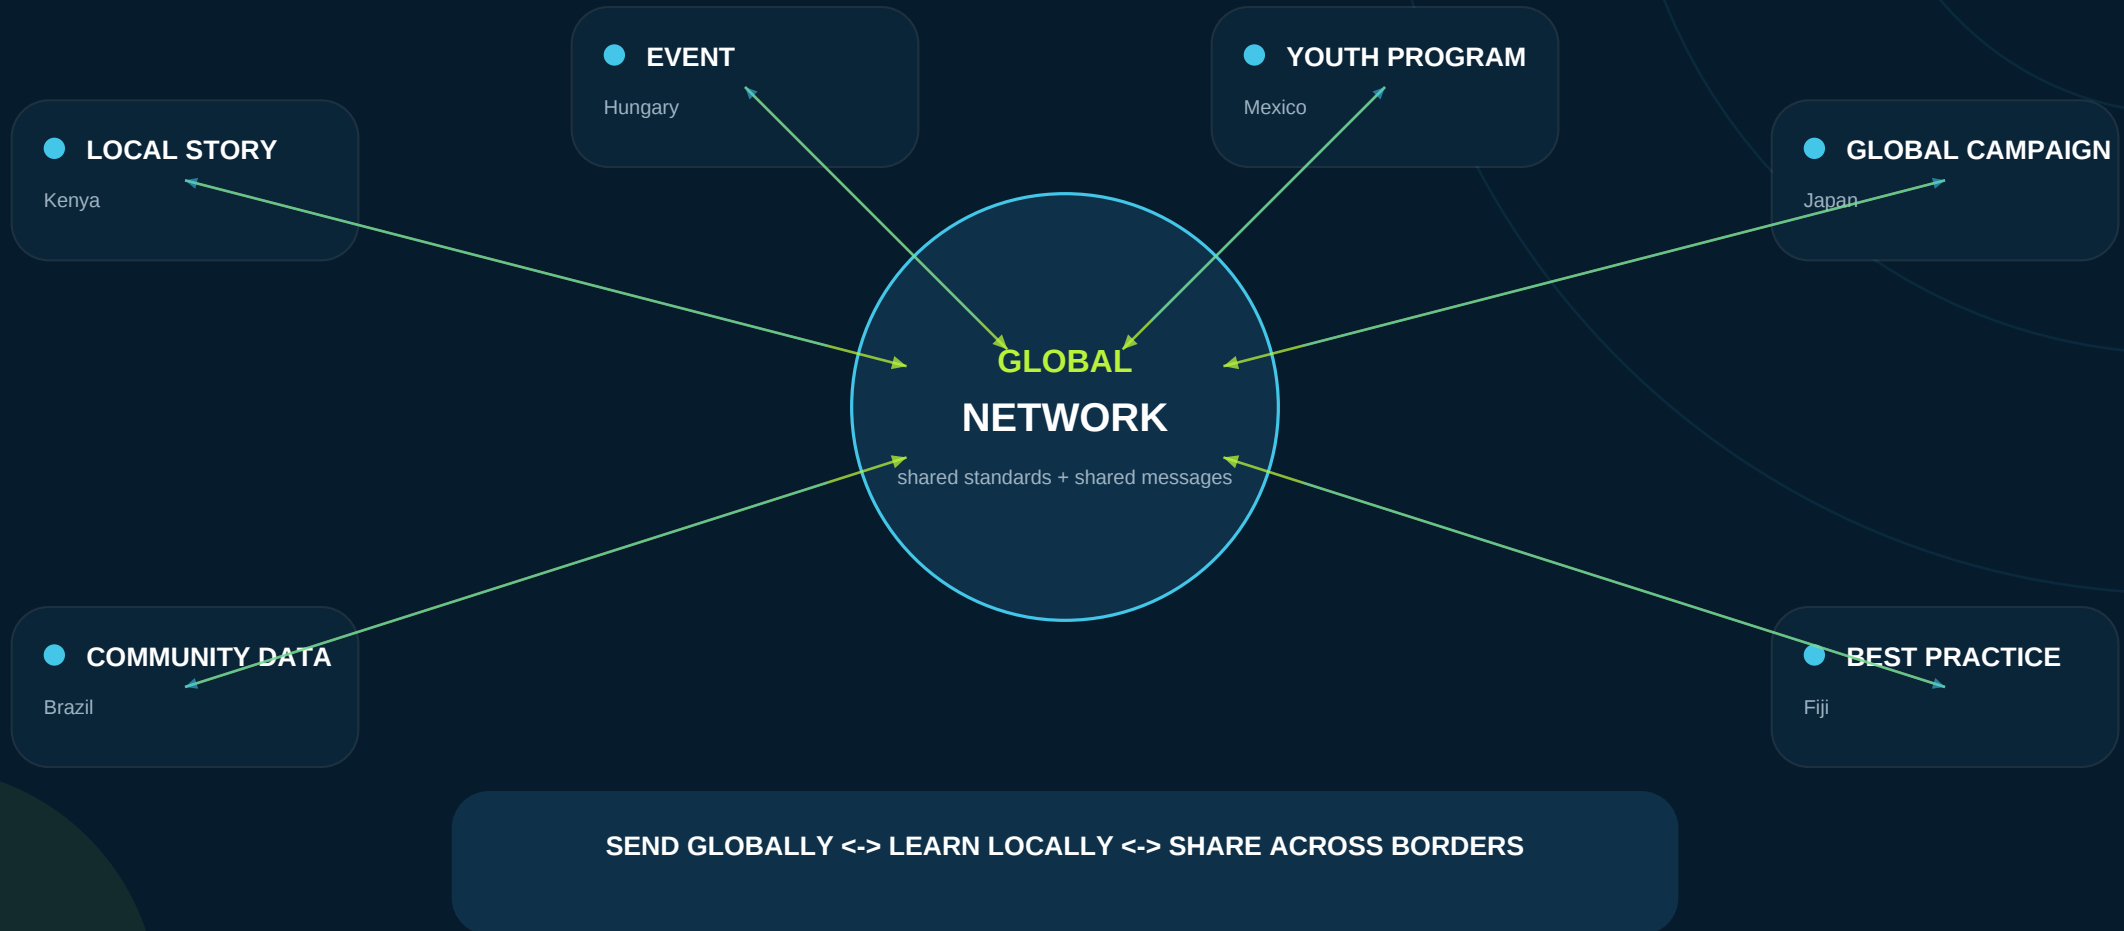

A country launch should be configuration and content - not a new website development project.

COUNTRY TEMPLATE v1.0

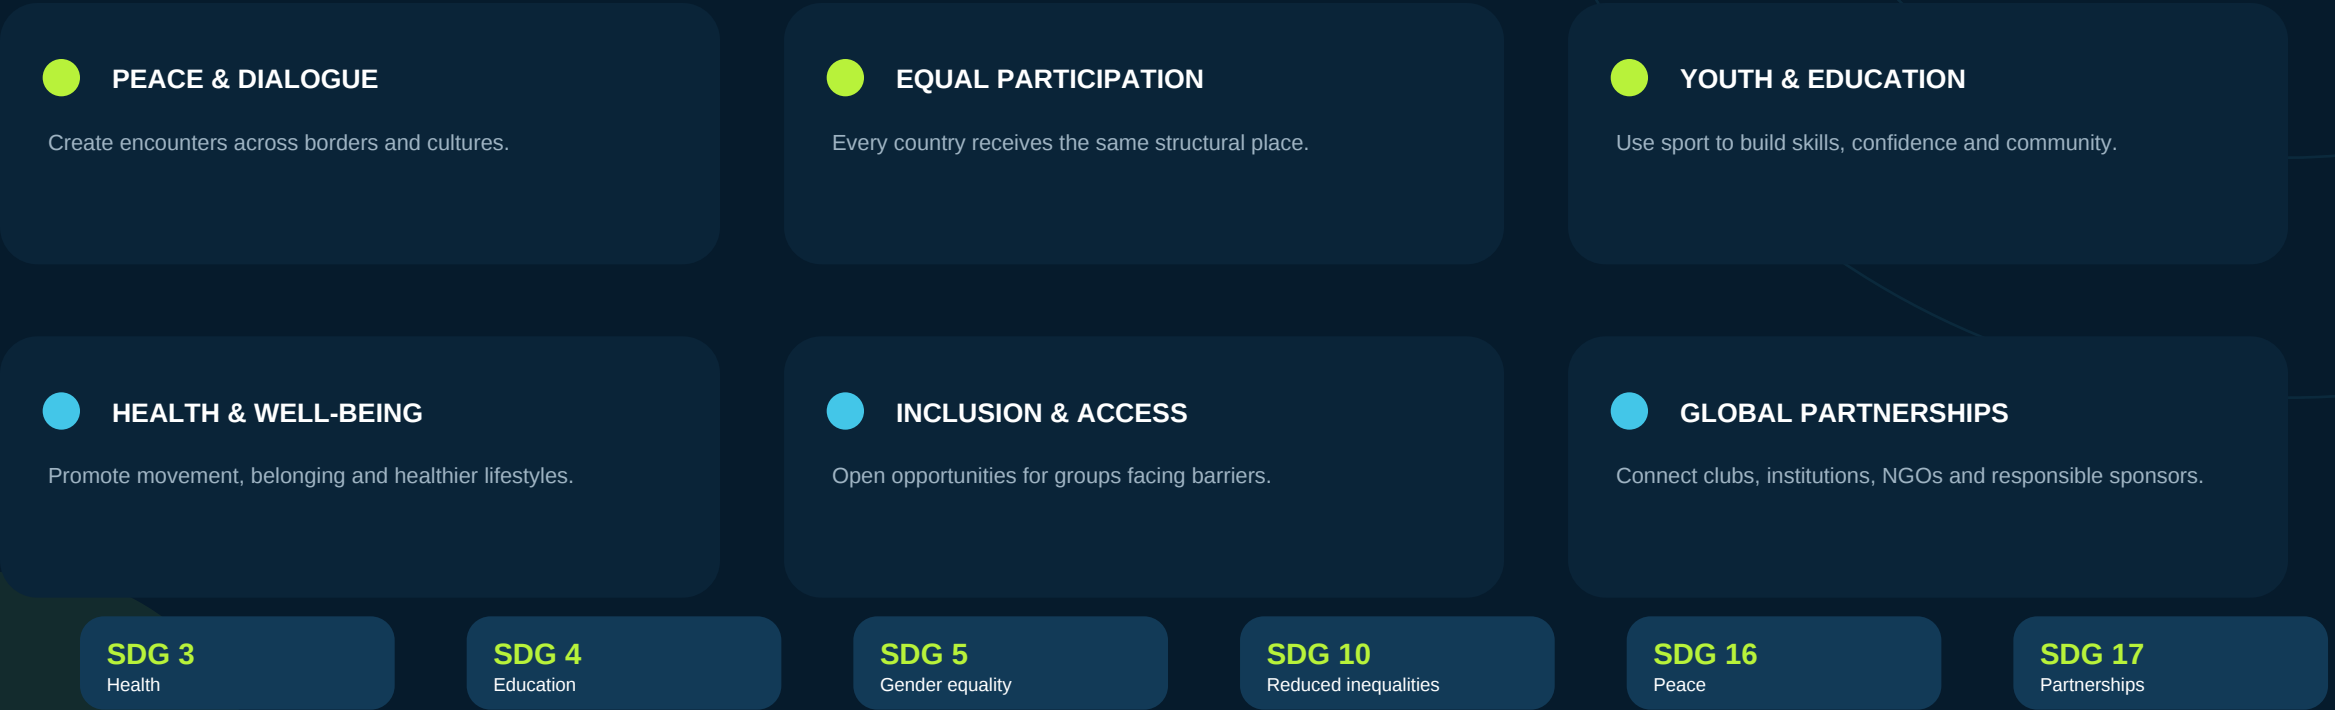

Built for two-way global communication

The network should not only broadcast. It should listen, collect and connect.

Sport is the entry point - human connection is the purpose

The platform is designed to carry values beyond competition.

Conceptual alignment with selected UN Sustainable Development Goals. No UN endorsement or affiliation is claimed.

PadelSport for Development & Peace

A dedicated social-impact pillar, separated from the commercial functions of the platform.

PLAY FOR PEACE

Cross-border friendly events and community days.

WOMEN & GIRLS

Programs designed to widen participation and visibility.

REFUGEE & COMMUNITY

Local partnerships that use sport for belonging and integration.

COACH EDUCATION

Values, safeguarding, inclusion and conflict-sensitive coaching.

YOUTH ACCESS

Junior participation, scholarships and equipment support.

ADAPTIVE SPORT

Inclusive pathways for people with disabilities.

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION

Campaigns and education against racism, hate and exclusion.

IMPACT DASHBOARD

Transparent metrics: countries, clubs, participants, programs and outcomes.

The aim is not to claim that sport automatically creates peace - the aim is to design measurable programs that can contribute to it.

Global scale without 195 separate technology stacks

Centralized technology can lower cost, training needs and technical barriers for local participation.

TRADITIONAL MODEL

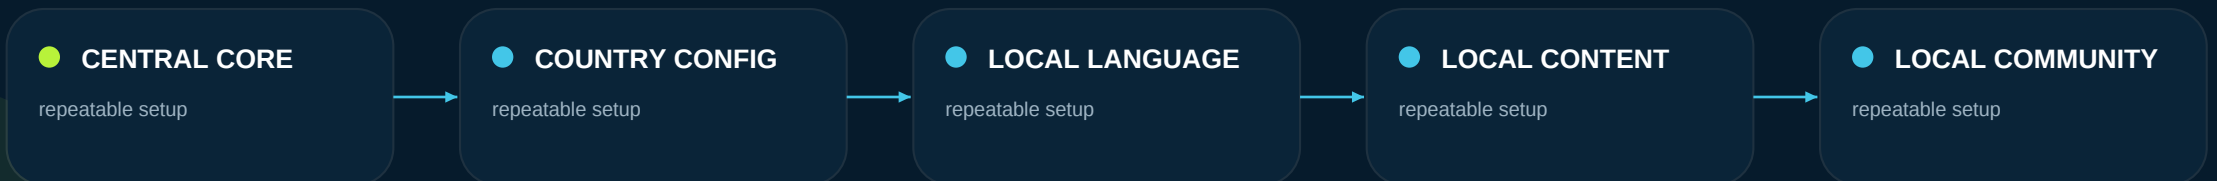

195 markets = 195 builds

- separate developers
- separate hosting logic
- separate maintenance
- high local cost

PADELSPORT GLOBAL MODEL

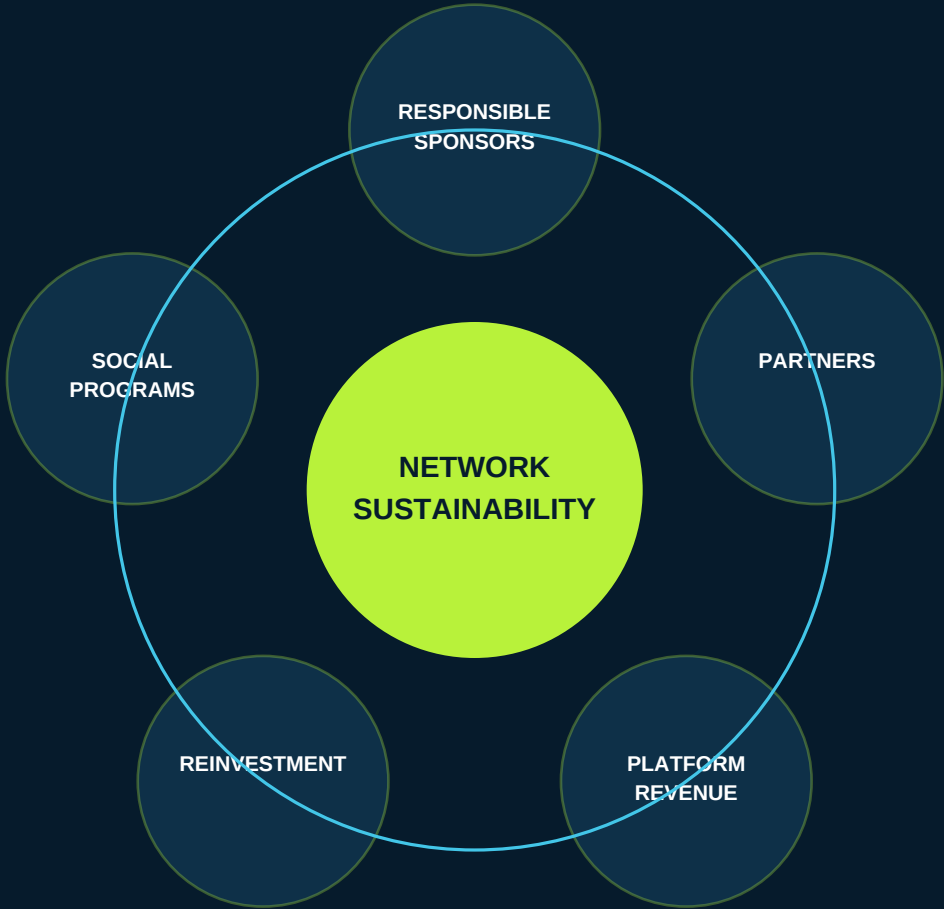

1 core + 195 configurations

- shared security & updates
- shared content tools
- remote training
- local editors without coding

Financially sustainable - socially purpose-driven

The goal is not maximum extraction. Revenue should keep the network secure, accessible and improving.

- NO COUNTRY FEE BARRIER
Participation should not depend on a country funding a separate platform.
- TRANSPARENT USE OF FUNDS
Support, program costs and outcomes should be measurable and reportable.
- REINVEST FOR CONTINUITY
Operational surplus should strengthen security, access, localization and impact.
- SEPARATE SOCIAL MISSION
The social-impact pillar should be governed distinctly from commercial services.

Equal status does not require simultaneous activation

All country gateways are protected. Technical rollout can be phased without creating a hierarchy of dignity or importance.

ILLUSTRATIVE TECHNICAL PILOT MARKETS

Hungary	Spain	France	United Kingdom	United States
Mexico	United Arab Emirates	India	Australia	Georgia

Pilot sequencing validates technology and workflows; it does not change the equal structural status of all 195 country gateways.

Built to remain independent, neutral and accountable

Global reach requires stronger safeguards - not weaker ones.

INDEPENDENT INITIATIVE

No UN, UNESCO, UNITAR or other institutional endorsement is claimed or implied.

POLITICAL NEUTRALITY

The network is not designed to rank, judge or campaign against countries or political systems.

LOCAL DIGNITY

Local language, culture and community context should be respected within shared standards.

SAFETY & SAFEGUARDING

Youth, user data, moderation and community features require privacy-by-design and safety controls.

MEASURABLE IMPACT

Social programs should define outputs, outcomes and transparent reporting from the beginning.

PARTNER INTEGRITY

Sponsors and partners should be selected against clear ethical and reputational criteria.

The network should become an instrument in the hands of people and institutions working for cooperation - not a substitute for them.

What we are asking for first: dialogue, expertise and standards

The first request is not endorsement. It is help in developing the infrastructure responsibly.

EXPERT REVIEW

Challenge the concept, identify risks and improve the social-impact design.

STANDARDS

Help define principles for safeguarding, inclusion, neutrality and responsible communication.

IMPACT MEASUREMENT

Design indicators that distinguish real outcomes from marketing claims.

PILOT DESIGN

Identify small, credible programs that can be tested before global scaling.

PARTNERSHIP PATHWAYS

Connect the network with relevant sports, development, education and civil-society actors.

LONG-TERM GOVERNANCE

Explore structures that protect the mission as the platform grows.

NOT: "Please endorse a finished project." BUT: "Please help us develop it in the right direction."

195 doors into one shared space

The measure of success will not be the number of domains - it will be what the network enables people to do together.

"I believe that sport can be a common language through which we can speak to one another even when many other things divide us."

- Bocskai Peter, Founder & Initiator

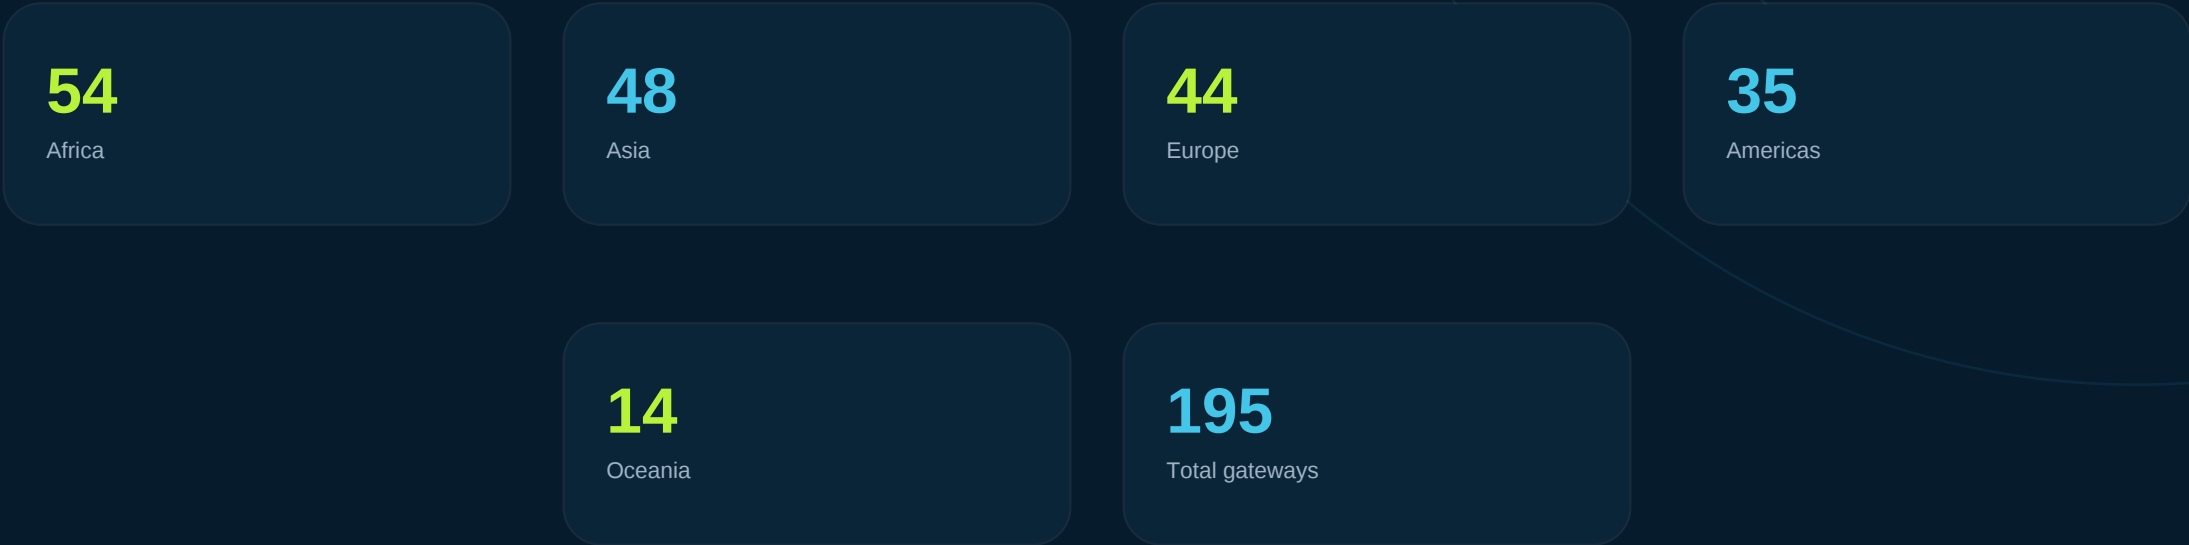

PadelSport Global | PadelSport for Development & Peace

The network is not presented as finished. Its most important chapter begins with the question: what should we use this possibility for?

The 195-country domain registry

Primary country gateways grouped by geographic region.

Registry note: some markets use strong country-code domains; others use PadelSport + country naming. All are connected by one architecture.

Africa - 54 country gateways
